

“These award winners inspire us with their leadership on issues that really matter to the Hudson Valley.” Carl Meyer, Chairman of the Board for Pattern for Progress, (www.pattern-for-progress.org) opened their Annual Awards Reception to an audience of 500 people on November 1st in New Windsor. The reception featured the recognition of The United Way of Columbia & Greene Counties for their work to improve the quality of life in the Hudson Valley, and for successfully “bridging” the Hudson River to demonstrate the power of regional cooperation. Accepting the award, Tammy Parker (pictured), Chairman of the Board of Directors for the United Way of Columbia & Greene Counties said that “We are pleased to be given this award because, by receiving this, it further supports our efforts that are focused in our agency’s vision statement: To be the trusted leader in our community by bringing people together to create solutions that improve people's lives. The membership of the United Way of Columbia & Greene Counties, and our supporters, are inspired to work together by the words of our mission statement: To maximize resources that improve people’s lives by activating the caring power of our community.”
